

Grady-White Canyon 271 FS

A name that has been synonymous with quality for years, the Grady-White line also has a great-riding hull built on the design of C. Raymond Hunt Associates' SeaV2 hull. Grady-White was founded in 1959 and builds 26 boat models from 18 to 36 feet at its plant in Greenville, North Carolina. A pioneer in cabin-style boats, Grady-White has also built center console boats for nearly 40 years, with 10 models from 18 to 36 feet.

Grady-White has produced another great-riding premium salt-water sportfishing boat with the 27-foot center console Grady-White Canyon 271 FS (forward seating). It features port and starboard bow fish boxes and cushioned seating with forward-facing fold-away backrests, plus a forward console seat with cooler underneath—increasing bow seating capacity from two to five or more people.
