Grady Owner Recognized for Tagging Success

Grady-White fanatic Roger Muller has a knack for setting records related to conservation. He set a record for the most lionfish speared in Dominica, an island in the Eastern Caribbean, and recently he was recognized for his fishing and tagging prowess by the Beyond Our Shores Foundation's Dolphinfish Research Program. "Anyone can participate in this program," Roger said. "If you love to fish, you can join the effort. It's easy and it's fun!"

Adjust Your Aft Seat with Ease

Grady-White's patented aft bench seat makes it convenient to add seating when cruising, but easily folds out of the way when you want more room in the cockpit. Did you know there is a third position the seat can be placed in that makes it easier to clean the deck and access the bilge? This video demonstrates how to easily place the seat in all three positions. Thanks to our dealer, Atlantic Marine, for making this short video.
